))) APPENDIX I: PARTIES AND LEADERS

| NOTES: PARTIES AND LEADERS

| This appendix identifies parties active during a polity's
| election and (where available) their leaders.

| Provided are the party labels for the codes used in the micro
| data variables. Parties A through F are the six most popular
| parties, listed in descending order according to their share of
| the popular vote in the "lowest" level election held (i.e.,
| wherever possible, the first segment of the lower house).

| Note that in countries represented with more than a single
| election study the order of parties may change between the two
| elections.

| Leaders A through F are the corresponding party leaders or
| presidential candidates referred to in the micro data items.
| This appendix reports these names and party affiliations.

| Parties G, H, and I are supplemental parties and leaders
| voluntarily provided by some election studies. However, these
| are in no particular order.

| ELECTION STUDY NOTES - KYRGYZSTAN (2005): PARTIES AND LEADERS

| Note that in items that code parties from A to F (or I) (e.g.,
 | B3037, B3038, B5011, etc.), Kyrgyz parties are not ordered
 | according to the election returns, but according to their
 | popularity as expressed in the CSES party identification item
 | B3029_1. Kyrgyzstan CSES election study is focused on the early
 | presidential election of July 10, 2005, but the candidates
 | basically did not represent parties that respondents were asked
 | about in the aforementioned items. As a result, the list of the
 | parties is not applicable to the presidential election results
 | items (B5005). These items list election results of the | candidates that participated in the presidential election (see
 | the corresponding election study note).

| ELECTION STUDY NOTES - KYRGYZSTAN (2005): LEADERS REPORTED IN
 | B3005_1, B3017, B3026

| The connection between political parties and political leaders
 | is very loose. Therefore, in variables B3005_1, B3017 and B3026,
 | are reported just candidates and leaders. There is no
 | straightforward connection between them and political parties
 | recorded in other CSES items and listed in the Appendix.
