

Consent to participate in this interview as part of the ‘Women as Vectors of Social Entrepreneurship in Hospitality & Tourism’ study

The purpose of the interview and the nature of the questions have been explained to me.

I consent to take part in an interview about my experiences and thoughts on how women in Cameroon use social enterprise as an empowerment and community development tool (in H&T in particular as well as in other business sectors) and how this SE-business-development nexus can be further strengthened. I also consent to be tape-recorded during this interview.

My participation is voluntary. I understand that I am free to leave the group at any time. If I decide not to participate at any time during the discussion, my decision will be respected.

None of my experiences or thoughts will be shared anyone outside of this group unless all identifying information is removed first. The information that I provide during the interview will be grouped with answers from other people so that I cannot be identified.
