Dear [Participant name],

We are carrying out research in partnership with the Skoll Foundation and the George Institute for Global Health in order to (a) establish the barriers/facilitators to implementation research and (b) gain insight into how rigorous research designs can be implemented cheaply and without disrupting core programs.

This project aims to develop a practical toolkit to enable practitioners to easily make implementation research—which tells us about harms, enables us to optimise existing interventions and ultimately, to scale and fund what works—a regular part of implementation.

We are interviewing health practitioners and evaluation specialists. Professor Pamela Hartigan suggested you would have valuable experience to share.

A sheet with more information on the project is attached. Would you be willing to participate in a 30-minute interview over the phone or by skype?

Please let us know when might be convenient.

Thank you,

Madeleine Ballard
