DEPOSITING DATA WITH THE UK DATA SERVICE

We would also like to ask your permission to deposit the data we collect from you in an archive managed by the UK Data Service. This would allow other researchers from universities and non-commercial organizations to access and reuse the data in their own projects, including teaching and developing policy, for example.

You are not obliged to agree to this and none of your personal data or identifying information (especially visual material in which you could be identified) will be deposited in the archive.

Other researchers would only have access to your data if they agree to preserve confidentiality. They would have to comply with the same terms you specify on this form in order to use the data. Further information about the UK Data Service can be found at: <https://www.ukdataservice.ac.uk/>.

Please read the following carefully before making your decision. If you want to change your mind at a later date, please let us know.

The box below lists the different types of data. Please indicate whether you give permission for these to be archived with the UK Data Service by initialing 'yes' or 'no'.

I give permission for the following types of data to be archived with the UK Data Service:
