Types of Sign Language

There are 7 types of sign language:-

1. Sign language for the deaf
2. Sign language for people who are deaf and blind.
3. Sign language for children and adults with special needs.
4. Sign language for babies - a most fabulous way to understand and communicate with hearing baby, before he or she can speak!
5. Sign language for communicating with animals for example dogs and dolphins.
6. Home sign is not a full language, but it is used for a particular family, where a deaf child does not have contact with other deaf children and is not educated in sign.
7. A village sign language is a local language is used both by the deaf and by a significant portion of the hearing community, who have deaf family and friends.
