

iRGENT Questionnaire: Summary of Documents

The questionnaire survey conducted in the UK element of the International Rural Gentrification (iRGENT) project involved long and short versions of the questionnaire. The later was employed when a long version of the questionnaire has already been conducted with a member of the household. Copies of both questionnaires have been included in the deposited information, while the dataset includes information derived from both the long and short versions of the questionnaire. The question numbers for the short questionnaire appear in brackets alongside the question numbers of the long questionnaire. Where long and short questionnaires were completed by household members, then there will a common household identifying number as well as different questionnaire identifying number.

Not all of the questions in the questionnaires have been included in the deposited dataset. The recorded datasets relate principally to quantified data, although the questionnaire included many open questions which produced qualitative data. However, as much of this inform contained potentially personally identifiable information, it has been excluded from the deposited dataset. The information included in the deposited dataset is indicated on the deposited questionnaire template documents (highlighted in green in the long questionnaire and in turquoise in the short questionnaire).

Not all of the respondents consented for the deposit of information in a publicly accessible archive, and in such cases the information for these respondents has been removed from the deposited dataset.
