The CBI is conducting a survey of bus nesses in collaboration with the LSE's Centre for Economic Performance. The survey aims to; () understand the extent to which the Covid-19 crisis has forced firms to adopt new technologies or practices that are considered productivity-enhancing in normal times, and () dentify policies that would help bus nesses maintain adopt on during the recovery. The results of our first July 2020 survey are $\frac{here}{here}$.

Your response w d rect y contribute to a thought-eadersh p p ece on the economic impact of Covid-19 on business innovation, particularly on the adoption of new digital technologies and organisational practices.

The Centre for Econom c Performance s one of Europe s eading economic research centres, established at the London School of Economics in 1990. Read more about its work here.
