

Transition into new adult setting after school*New adult setting – semi-structured interview online or in-person

You have been involved in the creation of a 'Who we are' Story and also viewing [student's name] 'I am...' Story. We'd like to find out a little bit from you about the process and what you think about the videos / walkthrough.

As you know, the Stories are aimed at supporting young people's transitions to a new school or setting and so that's what we're interested in finding out more about from your perspective.

1. First, can you please briefly describe your role at [name of setting]?
2. And can you explain how you have been involved in the development of the Digital Story?
3. What were your initial thoughts or expectations about the Digital Stories and whether they could support young people's transitions?
  - a. Prompts: typical challenges or difficulties? Ways of overcoming these (i.e. what is needed to support transitions)?
  - b. Prompts: technological worries (accessing or operating tech, use of tech in this setting)
4. Through the process of creating the Story, what did you feel worked well?
5. And what was challenging?
6. Having seen the completed Story (yours and student's name), what is your impression of whether / how this type of method could be helpful in supporting transitions?
  - a. Prompt: better or worse than 'business as usual'?
  - b. Ways of accessing information about the young person?
  - c. Ways of accessing information about the new setting?
  - d. What have you learned? About practice, transitions, children?
7. What difference has it made / could it make to supporting transitions?
  - a. Is this something you'll be using or considering using for the future?
  - b. Would you do anything differently next time?
8. What are the main features of the videos that you feel are particularly useful (if any!)?
9. From your point of view, how would we know if these transition tools are successful?
10. Is there anything else you'd like to add that we have not already covered?

Thank you very much for your time
